Overview

write with details on procedures for leave applications for the 2020-21 academic year or 2021 calendar year for non-tenured ladder faculty governed by FASTAP 2007.

- Assistant professors governed by FASTAP 2007 are eligible for a one-year leave at full salary, typically taken during a single academic year during the second, third, or fourth year of their initial appointments. (In the case of faculty whose work is laboratory-based, the faculty member may, with the approval of the department and FAS Dean, take one semester of their first leave during their first semester at Yale in order to set up their laboratory.) Assistant professor leaves under FASTAP 2007 are called Morse Fellowships (Humanities) and Junior Faculty Fellowships (Social Science, Science, and Engineering).

- Associate professors on term governed by FASTAP 2007 are eligible for a one-year leave at full salary, called an Associate Professor Leave (APL), in the first or second academic year of their appointment at that rank.

Schedule

The schedule for submitting materials in support of requests for leaves prior to tenure review for the 2020-21 academic year or 2021 calendar year is as follows:

(a) October 21, 2019: The assistant professor submits leave proposal to department. This proposal should be a five-page single-spaced (maximum) explanation of the project which describes how it will contribute to the candidate’s growth as a researcher and teacher. The proposal should explain the significance of the project to the candidate’s field of study, describe the methods to be used in undertaking the project, and articulate a plan to achieve publication.

(b) October 2019: The department chair appoints a departmental committee of permanent officers to evaluate proposals for leaves for non-tenured ladder faculty. The committee assesses each proposal’s strengths, weaknesses, and feasibility, and then one or more of the committee members meets with the non-tenured ladder faculty member to provide mentoring feedback. The applicant revises the proposal as needed, based on committee input. The chair of the departmental committee then forwards a short report (typically less than one page) to the department chair detailing the committee’s evaluation of the proposal and summarizing the discussion with the non-tenured ladder faculty member.

(c) November 11, 2019: The department chair, on behalf of the department, submits as a single pdf per faculty member, electronic copies of the candidate’s proposal, candidate’s CV, departmental committee report, and chair’s recommendation to fas.dean@yale.edu.

(d) December 13, 2019: The FAS Dean’s Office notifies departments of decisions regarding leaves for non-tenured ladder faculty.

Additional information

Timing of Morse Fellowship/Junior Faculty Fellowship leaves
Non-tenured ladder faculty members should be encouraged to take the Morse or Junior Faculty Fellowship when it best advances their research programs. Except in unusual circumstances, we recommend taking the leave in the third or fourth year. This schedule provides the faculty member an opportunity to become integrated into the department and University, and to develop a strong teaching record prior to the first review. We value high quality teaching not only for its importance to our undergraduate and graduate students, but also because it enriches the scholarship of faculty members. In the sciences and engineering, where setting up a new laboratory may be time consuming, non-tenured ladder faculty may wish to take one semester of the leave in their first semester at Yale for this purpose and take the second semester in the third or fourth year. Except in exceptional circumstances, a full-year leave should be taken over an academic rather than a calendar year, to allow the candidate to participate fully in the life of the University.

Timing of APL
Faculty members who wish to take their APL in the first year following promotion to associate professor on term must apply for the leave during the same academic year as the promotion review. In such cases, the approval of the application will be offered contingent upon successful promotion. Faculty members should not wait until the review is completed before applying for the APL for the following year.

External funding
We encourage non-tenured ladder faculty members who are applying for leave also to apply for external fellowships at the same time. Winning an external award is, of course, beneficial for one’s career, but even submitting such a proposal may raise a scholar’s visibility among the senior scholars in the discipline serving on awards committees. If a member of the FAS faculty who has been granted a paid leave is also successful in obtaining from outside sources any portion of the salary that he or she is eligible to receive from Yale for the term of that leave, one half of the resulting salary savings to the University up to $25,000 will be used to create an individual research account, which may be used for any legitimate research expenses.

Review process and mentoring
Implementation of these leave procedures requires the energy and cooperation of the tenured members of the FAS faculty, but we know that the permanent officers share our commitment to enhancing the scholarly productivity of our non-tenured colleagues.

The review and evaluation of proposals for leaves for assistant professors is an important component of a broader mentoring plan for non-tenured ladder faculty.

Faculty Handbook
Leave descriptions and policies are available in the Faculty Handbook online at http://provost.yale.edu/faculty-handbook, section XV, Leaves of Absence: University-wide, and section V.L, Faculty of Arts and Sciences: Leaves.

Please feel free to contact the FAS Dean’s Office at fas.dean@yale.edu if you have questions or need additional information.