I’m With Her
with The Brother Brothers

I’m With Her is a female contemporary folk trio featuring three Grammy Award-winning musicians: Sara Watkins, Sarah Jarosz, and Aoife O’Donovan. These talented women co-founded two major bands, Nickel Creek and Crooked Still, and have made notable contributions to albums from many renowned artists, such as Yo-Yo Ma, Béla Fleck, and Chris Thile. Their music combines superb lyricism with exquisite harmonies to create an intricate and unified sound, leaving audiences moved by their emotionally raw narratives and refined musicianship.

Karina Gauvin, soprano
Michael McMahon, piano

Recognized for her work in baroque music and for her mastery of Handel repertoire, Canadian soprano Karina Gauvin also sings Mahler, Britten, and the music of the late twentieth and twenty-first centuries with notable success. She has received numerous prestigious distinctions, including the title of Soloist of the Year from the International Community of French- language Public Radio Stations. Audiences across North America and throughout Europe are awed by “her powerfully dramatic voice with all its shades of color and vocal agility” (Toronto Concert Reviews).

Utah Symphony
An Evening in Spain with Boléro and Carmen

Thierry Fischer, music director
Jun Märkl, conductor
Ingrid Fliter, piano

This performance by the Utah Symphony is inspired by the infectious flamenco rhythms and passionate spirit of Spain. This concert will feature Bizet’s Carmen, which has stood the test of time, weaving vivid storytelling into carefully crafted orchestration to convey powerful and honest emotion. Audiences will also get to enjoy Ravel’s one-movement orchestral showpiece Boléro, which introduces a repetitive, hypnotic rhythm that gradually builds to a shattering climax, bringing the piece to an exultant conclusion. This evening of Spanish flair is not to be missed!
The Other Mozart

We kick off the 2019 OFF THE MAP International Theatre Festival with a “strikingly beautiful” (New York Times) tale of the forgotten story of Mozart’s genius sister. This haunting melodrama, underscored by original music, is performed on and in a stunning 18-foot dress and dives deep into the life and history of “the other Mozart.” Recommended for ages 12+

We're Jim and Sandy Cook, and we're volunteer chairs for the Jesse and Amanda Knight Society at Brigham Young University. If you are interested in carrying your legacy forward at Brigham Young University, it's not too early to do so. The Jesse and Amanda Knight Society provides a simple way for you to contribute and join, regardless of what phase of life you are in, by including BYU in your • will • life insurance policy • trust • retirement account • annuity • P0D account

There are no dues, and disclosing the amount of your donation is optional (though helpful). We invite members to a luncheon on campus in the fall that always features a very interesting special guest. We’d love it if you could join us! We encourage you to become a part of this wonderful society and rub shoulders with others who embrace the vision of BYU.

Please call 801-356-5251, email legacy@ldschurch.org, or visit give.byu.edu/knight18 to learn more about being a member. We look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

JIM AND SANDY COOK

Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead

By Tom Stoppard
Directed by TBA

This Tony Award-winning modern masterpiece follows the classic story of Hamlet as seen through the eyes of Rosencrantz and Guildenstern, two minor characters in Shakespeare’s play. Sometimes funny, sometimes tragic, and always philosophical, Stoppard’s most popular work forces us to confront the power of life and the meaning of death.

“Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead” is presented by special arrangement with SAMUEL FRENCH, INC.

Play Reading Series

Contemporary Voices: Play Readings from Award-winning Scripts

Join us for an evening of script-in-hand readings of award-winning plays that intrigue, provoke, and enlighten. These performances are part of BYU Theatre’s mission to develop the best art and artists. The readings will be from largely unedited scripts that allow the audience to engage with the work of master playwrights whose important voices might otherwise not be heard in our university community. Every performance will be followed by a lively discussion with audience and performers.

Women of Trachis
By Sophocles

Because of her beauty, Deianeira, the wife of Herakles, had been sought by many suitors. One of these, the centaur Nessos, was killed by Herakles, who then claimed her as his bride. Years later she and her children are exiles in Trachis because of an act of violence by Herakles. Alone now for over a year, she wonders what has become of Herakles and sends her son Hyllos to find out. News arrives that he has conquered the city of Eurytus in Eubia, and captives arrive from that sack, including Iole, the king’s daughter. Deianeira learns from Lichas the Herakles has sacked the city, not because he had been insulted, but because he wanted the king’s daughter. In jealous despair, she sends Hyllos a robe anointed with blood from the centaur’s wound, which turns out not to be the love charm she thought but an incurable poison. Hyllos brings news of what the robe has done to Herakles, and Deianeira kills herself with a sword. Herakles is brought onstage in great pain, cursing his wife and asking Hyllos to marry Iole and then to light the funeral pyre that will put him out of his agony.
