Full-Time Faculty Positions

The Georgetown University School of Nursing & Health Studies (SNHS), Department of Professional Nursing Practice seeks several full-time doctorally prepared faculty to join our dynamic pre-licensure BSN, MSN-CNL, and DNP programs. Georgetown University has been an internationally recognized leader in nursing education since 1903. At this time in our rich history, we are seeking faculty scholars committed to both engage in novel and bold initiatives to support student formation and to make timely and significant contributions to our dynamic healthcare environment. Successful candidates should be mission informed, thoughtful, creative, and possess a desire to be an active part of our goals of engaged student learning, increased research productivity, and ongoing service contributions, including to our most vulnerable populations. Preferred areas of didactic and clinical expertise include psychiatric-mental health, public health, maternal-child health and acute care/complex nursing. Specific availability includes:

- BSN Program Director
- Tenure-Line / Tenure eligible faculty
- Educator-Line

Responsibilities include:

- Active and sustained engagement in scholarship
- Opportunity to serve on doctoral committees
- Didactic and / or clinical instruction within content area of expertise
- Participation in curriculum development, review, and evaluation
- Participation in student, school, and university initiatives

Qualifications

- PhD or DNP degree
- 2-5 years of experience in academic nursing
- Current eligibility to obtain an RN license in the District of Columbia is required.

Successful candidates will have excellent interpersonal, communication, and teaching skills with demonstrated success in higher education. Academic rank will be offered commensurate with education and experience. The Department is situated in an innovative, multidisciplinary school, which includes four additional academic departments: Advanced Nursing Practice; Health Systems Administration; Human Science; and International Health. Outstanding resources support faculty research, collaboration, and teaching, and include the O’Neill Family Foundation Clinical Simulation Center and the SNHS Discovery Center—a teaching and research laboratory.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of intent and curriculum vitae electronically to:

Department of Professional Nursing Practice
Georgetown University School of Nursing & Health Studies

Email: gudpnp@gmail.com

All inquiries, nominations, referrals, and materials will be maintained in confidence.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law. Visit ideaa.georgetown.edu for more information.