Effective March 12, 2020, BU String Project classes on campus and face-to-face private lessons on campus, in public schools, or in private homes have been cancelled for the remainder of the spring semester.

At this time, there is no information about when the BU String Project will resume. Registration forms and the semester calendar will be updated when the guidelines of the CDC indicate that it safe for all participants—children, parents, and Baylor students—to resume the close-contact instruction as provided in this environment.

Please check back with the BU String Project webpage for updates about a program restart as we progress through these uncertain times. This unprecedented change of plans as well as our thoughts and prayers are focused the safety of all our children, their families, and our teachers. God bless you all!
