Vivienne Malone-Mayes

Malone-Mayes, the first African American woman to earn a Ph.D. in mathematics from the University of Texas at Austin and the fifth to do so nationwide, studied functional analysis and served on the faculty of Baylor University. Elected Director-at-Large for Texas section of the Mathematical Association of America, she also received recognition from Baylor students for her teaching and service within just a few years of arriving on campus. Students honored her as Outstanding Faculty Member of the Year.

Texas Scientists Change the World