January 6, 2017  Season 2, Episode 1  12 PM to 1 PM EST

Live webinar hosted via Zoom Webinar

Register

12:00 PM  Introduction & Welcome
Michael Murray, AAPD

12:05 PM  Overview of National Trends in Disability Employment (nTIDE) Jobs Report Release
Andrew Houtenville, UNH-IOD, John O’Neill, Kessler Foundation

12:15 PM  Announcements from the field of Disability Employment
Michael Gamel-McCormick, AUCD

12:30 PM  Jane Boone, Retired Washington State DDD, Jobs by 21 Partnership Project Manager

12:45 PM  Open Question & Answer period for attendees

* All webinars will be recorded and closed captioned and will be added to our website archives along with full transcripts following the live broadcast.

Join our Mailing List and stay up to date with the webinar series and other news from the field.

Brought to you by the University of New Hampshire Institute on Disability and the Employment Policy and Measurement Rehabilitation and Research Training Center, funded by the National Institute on Disability, Independent Living, and Rehabilitation Research (NIDILRR)

www.researchondisability.org/ntide
Presenter Bios

Guest Presenter:

Jane Boone. Since 1980, Jane Boone has worked with local, state and federal stakeholders, self-advocates, employers and families to create the collaborative strategies, leveraged funding, policies, practices and training essential to realizing full employment for the workforce of youth and adults with intellectual disabilities. Since 2013, Jane has served as an independent national consultant, and worked with the State Employment Leadership Network and ODEP’s Employment First initiative with states. Between late 2007 and early 2013, Jane administered the Jobs by 21 and Employment Partnership for the Washington State, a formally evaluated project with a successful focus on transitioning from school to work for the state’s youth. Between 1980 and late 2007, Jane was a county administrator for Thurston and Mason Counties Developmental Disabilities, responsible for supports to birth to three year olds and adults. Under her leadership, service support funding became individualized and portable, all school districts developed programs offering transitioning youth with intellectual disabilities the opportunity to transition from school to work in the community, the pre-existing sheltered workshops closed and converted their business model to integrated employment, public sector employment for persons with intellectual disabilities was increased and the overall rate of employment for people with I/DD became amongst the highest in Washington. Jane earned her degree in Community Organizing from The Evergreen State College in Olympia, Washington.

Monthly nTIDE Presenters:

Andrew Houtenville, PhD is an Associate Professor of Economics and Research Director of the Institute on Disability at the University of New Hampshire. Dr. Houtenville is extensively involved in disability statistics and employment policy research. He has published widely in the areas of disability statistics and the economic status of people with disabilities. He is the Principle Investigator on the NIDILRR-funded Employment Policy and Measurement Rehabilitation and Research Training Center. Dr. Houtenville received his Ph.D. in Economics from the University of New Hampshire in 1997 and was a National Institute on Aging Post-Doctoral Fellow at Syracuse University in 1998/1999. He was also a Senior Research Associate at Cornell University and New Editions Consulting in McLean, Virginia.

John O’Neill, Ph.D., CRC is the Director of Employment Research at the Kessler Foundation. He currently serves as the Project Co-Director of two NIDRR-funded Rehabilitation Research and Training Centers (RRTC), “Rehabilitation Research and Training Center on Disability Statistics and Demographics” and “Rehabilitation Research and Training Center on Individual-Level Characteristics Related to Employment Among Individuals with Disabilities” He is a former principle investigator of the RRTC on the Community Integration of People with TBI, and worked for more than eight years on NIDRR-funded research to improve the quality of vocational rehabilitation services for persons with AIDS.

For six years Dr. O’Neill sat on the NY Rehabilitation Council and was the Council’s representative working with the State vocational rehabilitation agency to create a comprehensive system of personnel development. Dr. O’Neill also directed the graduate program in rehabilitation counseling at Hunter College, CUNY for 25 years. He is a guest editor for the Rehabilitation Counseling Bulletin for an upcoming special issue on Disability, Person-Environment Interaction and Employment (Spring 2013). Dr. O’Neill is a national expert in the employment of individuals with disability. He recently joined KF as Director of Vocational Research. In this capacity, he will work with the NNJTBIIS as a co-investigator focused on dissemination activities regarding employment issues in TBI. Dr. O’Neill will additionally serve as a co-investigator on our site specific research project, assisting with the measurement of employment-related outcomes.

Michael Gamel-McCormick is the Associate Executive Director at the Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD). Prior to joining AUCD he was the Disability Policy Director and Senior Education Policy Analyst with the Senate Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions under the chairmanship of Senator Tom Harkin. For 17 years, Michael was professor and Dean of the College of Education and Public Policy at the University of Delaware, the interim chair of the Department of Human Development and Family Studies, and the director of the Center for Disabilities Studies, Delaware’s University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities. He has also been the director of a rural early intervention program, the director of health and education services at a large urban community services agency, the coordinator of an early childhood special education technical assistance center, and a preschool teacher.

Michael Murray serves as the Chief Operating Officer for the AAPD. Michael’s passion and enthusiasm is powered by his experience as a person with a disability. Before joining AAPD, Michael served as the principal advisor to the U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM), steering and designing the policies and programs of 56 Federal agencies throughout the country to implement the President’s Executive Order on Increasing Federal Employment of Individuals with Disabilities. By fostering teamwork and collaboration, Michael led the Federal government in hiring the largest percentage and number of people with disabilities into Federal service in history. While at OPM, Michael also served as the acting Deputy Director of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion, driving highly successful workforce initiatives with various diverse communities. He has also worked on a state level as a disability rights advocate and to develop the Beyond Academics program at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.