1. Who is eligible to apply for the Social Justice and Diversity Grant Challenge?
All NYU Silver students, organizations, full-time and part-time faculty, and staff members are eligible and encouraged to submit a proposal.

Proposal Requirements:
- At least part of the proposal team’s membership must be comprised of individuals from two or more diverse groups
- At least one Silver-recognized student group must be involved
- Event or initiative must be open to the entire Silver community

2. Am I allowed to submit proposals for both the #SilverUp4theChallenge competition and the Social Justice and Diversity Grant Challenge?
Yes. Students are allowed and encouraged to submit proposals for either and/or both competitions.

3. How does the committee determine the allocation of the funds?
- Priority will be given to programs held at the branch campus locations.
- Those proposals that fully describe how the event will meet the goals of the grant challenge will be the most successful in this process.
- Those proposals that allow for greater sustainability and effectiveness will be ranked more highly by the committee.

4. How many grants are available?
There is no fixed number of proposals that will be approved. The committee will seek to select the highest number possible of promising proposals, depending on the quality of the applications.

5. Can our group submit more than one proposal?
While groups are allowed to submit more than one proposal, groups are encouraged to submit the proposal they are most interested in pursuing.

6. Do I need to have all of my dates, locations and details ironed out before applying for the first round of the Social Justice and Diversity Grant Challenge?
No. Proposal applications are to get an idea of what applicants plan on creating. Details do not need to be finalized at the time of application. There will be a follow-up requesting final details once programs have been selected.

7. What kind of activities are you looking for?
The activity can include, but is not limited to, schoolwide programs, dialogue events, workshops and/or training, focused on creating partnerships, raising awareness, and dispensing of knowledge. Programming examples can be found on the Social Justice & Diversity Grant web page.
8. Will there be time to apply for the grant in the Spring?
Those who wish to hold an event in March or April are able to submit proposals no later than January 8th. This is the latest date in the Spring semester that applications will be accepted.

9. I have an idea but I don’t know any on campus groups or departments.
The Social Justice and Diversity Grant Challenge would like to help all parties interested in the grant find the required partnerships to execute their program. Please contact silver.sjdgrant@nyu.edu for assistance or take a look at the list below and contact a group or department directly.
